TRAGEDY IN A BANK

It May Result Fatally to at Least Three Persons.

ONE OF THEM ALREADY DEAD

The Assistant Bookkeeper and Collection Clerk Uses His Revolver to Hide His Crimes—Two Men Shot and Then a Bullet Is Sent Into His Own Brain—Details of the Horrible Event.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Dec. 17.—At 11 o'clock Sunday a tragedy was enacted in the private office of the Citizens' State bank of Council Bluffs which may result fatally for three persons. John Huntington, assistant bookkeeper and collection clerk, shot C. A. Cromwell of Chicago, representative of the Fidelity and Casualty company of New York and then emptied his revolver into his own brain, inflicting a wound from which he died two hours later. Cromwell and Hayden, it is thought, will recover.

Huntington was one of the best known men in Council Bluffs and numbered his friends by the hundred. So far as can be learned he had no bad habits, and this is what makes his act the harder to explain. On the 20th of last July a check of $500 was turned over to him by Ira F. Hendricks, one of the employees of the bank in the regular routine of business. Huntington charged up the check to the Union Stockyards National bank of South Omaha, and from that day to this nothing whatever has been seen or heard of it. The day following Huntington left for a vacation trip of several weeks to New York city. The bank officials kept thinking the check would turn up sooner or later and deferred any action. As time passed on and it became evident that the bank was out $500, they sent a message to the Fidelity and Casualty company notifying it of the fact and suggesting that inspectors come on at once and make an investigation.

The bank officials claim that at the time they had no charges to make against Huntington or any employee of the bank. All of their employees were bonded in the Fidelity and they preferred that the Fidelity company should make the investigation rather than make it themselves. Messrs. Cromwell and Hayden arrived in the city last Friday and took rooms at the Grand hotel. They cross-examined each of the bank employees through whose hands the missing check had passed, and among the rest, Huntington. They claimed to have discovered that he had been spending more money than the salary of $45 a month which he was receiving would warrant, and on this, together with the fact that the check had been last seen in his hands, they based their suspicions.

Huntington and the representatives of the Fidelity company met Saturday night and made arrangements for another meeting at the bank Sunday morning, when the investigation was to be resumed. At the hour appointed they were together, and Cromwell and Hayden commenced to put the young man through a running cross-fire of questions. President J. D. Edmundson and Cashier C. R. Hannan of the bank were present during most of the interview. The conference had not been in progress for more than 15 minutes when Huntington rose from his chair, pulled a revolver and commenced firing at the representatives of the Fidelity company.

The revolver he used was a 41-caliber that belonged to the bank and had been kept in the desk of G. F. Spooner, the paying teller. The first three shots were fired at Cromwell, who had taken the lead in the interrogation, and all three took effect. The fourth struck Hayden and then Huntington raised the weapon to his own head and fired. He fell to the floor unconscious and remained so until his death at 1:10 p. m.

The two wounded men ran out of the bank down First avenue and into the Grand hotel, blood dripping from them at every step. They were taken to their rooms and Dr. Donald Moore, Jr., was summoned. He found that one of the bullets had taken effect in Cromwell's back, just to the right of the spine, about the waist line. It was found about four inches below the surface and extruded. The second bullet struck in the left side of his chest, plowed its way around the right side of his neck, and came to a stop after just missing the carotid artery. The third struck him in the right wrist, he having thrown up his hand to strike the revolver out of Huntington's hand. It broke one of the bones of the forearm clear in two and imbedded itself in the bone, almost severing it. When the ball was taken out it was cut almost in two from the pointed end down. Cromwell will probably lose the use of his right hand on account of a stiffening of the wrist joint as the result of the fracture of the bones.

Hayden fared better. The bullet struck him in the neck, and after passing around about a quarter of the way imbedded itself in a panel in the door, where it was afterward found. His wound is not considered of a serious nature, but a variation of half an inch would have killed him.

The bullet that took Huntington's life entered the skull just behind the ear, and lodged back of the right eye, where its presence was shown by a discoloration of the lid. His having the weapon in his possession showed he had planned it all out before hand, and his coolness, in the face of the terrible deed he was committing, is surprising, all of the men who were present at the interview testifying that they had not the slightest idea anything out of the ordinary run of things would be thought of by the young man.

The parents of young Huntington were at once summoned. The aged mother was beside herself with grief. The death of their son was affliction enough, but the honest old people appeared to be grieved more that their son should have committed the two crimes of robbing his employers and then attempting to murder, than over the mere fact of his death.

"That he is dead is bad enough," said his mother, "but that he should do such a thing is terrible."

J. D. Edmundson, the president of the bank, was seen and asked for his version of the affair. He said: "Huntington, Cromwell, Hayden and I were sitting in the private office. Cromwell was in the northwest corner of the room, I in the northeast, Hayden about the center and Huntington between Hayden and myself. We were seated about a table that stands against the north wall. Mr. Hannan, the cashier, had been sitting between Hayden and Huntington until a few minutes before the shooting took place, when he went out into the front part of the bank. Hayden and Cromwell had been questioning the young man very closely about his mode of living. On one occasion he had deposited $70 in the bank, and Cromwell asked him where he got it. Huntington said he borrowed it, but when asked of whom he borrowed it he could not remember, and said that it was none of their business, anyway. He was also unable to say of whom he got the money to pay back the loan. Up to that time I had had the most implicit confidence in Huntington's honesty, but I must confess his evasive answers made me doubtful of it.

"I saw that something unpleasant was about to occur and got up to leave the room. Just as I got up Huntington did likewise. He passed behind Hayden, and I supposed he was going to get a drink at the water tank. There was nothing in his actions that indicated nervousness or excitement. I was about half way between my chair and the door when I heard a pistol shot, and looking around I saw Huntington standing between Cromwell and Hayden, and a little behind both, with his revolver pointed at the former. I hurried out of the private office and as I went I heard several more shots fired. I ran out and gave the alarm, and when several of us went into the private office we found Huntington lying on the floor with blood streaming from a wound in the back of his head and the two other men suffering from the effects of his deadly aim.

"We have always considered John an honest young man, and if there was any weak point in his character it was a little tendency to extravagance. Of course the amount he was in the habit of spending would not have been extravagant to a man of means, but was rather more than a young man ought to spend who draws only $45 a month."

Hayden, one of the wounded men, in conversation about the affair, said: "We had only been talking a few minutes and no accusation had as yet been made. But the questions we had been asking were very pointed and were easily taken by him as leading up to a direct charge of theft. At times he had talked loudly and in a somewhat excited manner, but just before the shooting he cooled down, and we had not the slightest intimation of what he was about to do. He suddenly got up without any show of anger, and pulling out a revolver commenced firing, first at Cromwell, then at me. We had no weapons and were not prepared to defend ourselves, nor is it likely we should have thought of doing so even if we had been armed, the shooting was done so rapidly, and it was all over so soon."

T. N. Hayden resides at 5545 Monroe street with his wife and one son, 20 years of age. The first news Mrs. Hayden received of the shooting was at 5 o'clock in the afternoon when a telegram was received from her husband telling her not to worry if she heard anything about the tragedy as he was all right. Hayden has lived in Chicago for many years. His father is general traveling auditor of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road. Hayden was for some years assistant general traveling auditor of the same line.

PRESIDENTIAL OUTING.

Cleveland Will Spend a Few Days Hunting on the Atlantic Coast.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—President Cleveland, accompanied by Dr. O'Reilly, Captain R. D. Evans and Mr. Charles Jefferson, left Washington yesterday evening on an Atlantic coast line train for a hunting trip on the coast of South Carolina.

The town of Georgetown is the destination of the presidential party. It is a small town on the coast north of Charleston and at the head of the bay into which the Great Pedee river empties. Fine duck hunting is afforded there and a few deer are occasionally shot. The trip has been in contemplation since early fall, and is taken at this time in the hope that the outing will benefit the president and eradicate the remnant of his rheumatism, which still lingers with him. The party will return in about a week.

It Will Create a Grand Rush.

ARMOUR, S. D., Dec. 17.—Information has been received here from Washington confirming previous reports that the Yankton reservation would not be opened for settlement until next March or April. The reservation contains over 200,000 acres of land, about 125,000 of which will be thrown open to settlement, the rest being allotted to the Indians. It is thought there will be a grand rush for land when it is opened, as the bulk of it will make excellent farming land.

GENEVA, Ind., Dec. 17.—Monroe White, an oil well driller, was drowned here yesterday by accidentally falling into a mammoth vat of crude oil.

AFFAIRS IN TURKEY

True Statements Coming From a Reliable Source.

THE HALF HAS NOT BEEN TOLD.

It May Be That Ten Thousand People Have Been Slain—An Investigation Demanded by the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions—A Report That Further Outrages Have Taken Place.

BOSTON, Dec. 17.—The American board of commissioners for foreign missions, more than any other missionary organization in America, centralizes its work in behalf of Armenians in Asiatic Turkey. Its western Turkey mission began in 1819, its eastern Turkey mission in 1836, and its central Turkey mission in 1847.

SULTAN ABDUL HAMID.

These three missions comprise 15 stations, 283 out stations, 45 missionaries, one medical missionary in eastern Turkey, 42 married women and 78 unmarried women—in fact, it employs 791 native laborers. These laborers occupy 299 places for stated preaching, secure average congregations of 30,747 persons. The Sabbath schools number 26,464. The adherents are estimated at 46,864. There are 112 churches, with a membership of 11,481, of whom 498 are received within a year.

The educational work is expensive. There are four theological schools, 29 theological students, 31 colleges, high and boarding schools for boys, containing 1,843 pupils; 20 colleges, high and boarding schools for girls, containing 1,121 pupils. There are 372 common schools, containing 10,883 pupils. There are 1,361 others under instructions. The grand total of persons under instructions consist of 19,886 persons. The contributions of the natives last year to the American board amounted to $34,768.

These facts do not include the work in European Turkey. Numerous inquiries have been received from the press and from the congressional constituency in the United States, which has induced their conservative organization to furnish the following statement relating to "Affairs in Turkey."

"We are not unconcerned about the reports of the massacre in eastern Turkey. The position of 177 missionaries of the American board within the Turkish empire is an extremely delicate one. Sympathizing deeply on the one side with all who are suffering by reason of poverty, oppression and misrule, they have yet been loyal to the government under which they have lived, and have never countenanced sedition or rebellion.

"It has been their blessed privilege while preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ to aid the poor, to protect, as far as possible, the oppressed, and to deliver from unjust officials multitudes who have been arrested or imprisoned. It is not necessary for our missionaries, after these scores of years of devoted labor for the native races of Turkey, to prove their sympathy with the suffering and oppressed by joining others who, at a safe distance from the scene of danger, are passing vigorous resolutions in condemnation of the wrongs inflicted. They are doing their best, amid no little peril to themselves, in the interests of those for whom they have long labored, but our readers can well understand that for the sake, both of the helpers and of the helped, it is inexpedient for us to present a full statement of all that we hear and believe.

"Some things we may properly say prior to the full investigation of the alleged atrocities, which we trust will be made by the representatives of both our government and of the European powers. In the Sassoun region, south of Moush plain, there are, or recently were, many villages inhabited by Armenians. These people were systematically robbed of their flocks by Kurds and in the latter part of the summer the Armenians pursued the robbers in their endeavor to recover their property. In the fight which ensued a dozen of these Kurds were killed, among whom were some who were enrolled as Turkish soldiers.

"When information was given that the Armenians had killed some of the sultan's troops the charge of rebellion was made, and orders were sent to put down the insurrection. The result was that these lawless and uncontrolled soldiers made indiscriminate slaughter of the people who had sought to defend their property. In the horrible massacres which followed thousands were slain—some state 5,000; others 10,000.

The details of this wretched affair are not obtainable, even by those near the scene. They will never be obtained unless foreign governments insist upon a thorough investigation, conducted by foreigners. The poor people are in terror, and dare not state the truth unless under protection.

"A document has been prepared near the scene of the carnage, purporting to give the judgment of the people that the thousands slain in Talvaree met their just deserts and expressing regret that it had been thought best to send consuls to investigate since there had been no need for their coming. The value of such a document will be understood when the methods for securing signatures are known. But such investigations should be made most vigorously either to relieve the government from unjust charges if the statements are incorrect or if they should be proven true to bring about the condign punishment of the guilty parties.

"Though our missionaries in eastern Turkey are often upon Moush plain, where there are many out-stations in which the evangelical work is conducted by them, yet their work has not extended into this Sassoun district, and hence they have had no direct reports from the scene of the massacre. Papers from Constantinople, printed entirely under control of the Turkish censors of the press, announce that the sultan has sent one of his imperial guards to the city of Erzurum, in eastern Turkey, to carry a decoration to Zekki Pasha, the commander of the Fourth army corps, which is located there. Sekki Pasha is the military commander who led the troops against the defenseless villages in the Sassoun region at the time of the massacre.

"Another envoy carries four banners from the sultan to the four leading Kurdish chiefs, who were associated with the military commander in the reported massacre, and who probably were the instigators of it. After the sultan has thus approved of the action of his troops and of the Kurds, it will be impossible for any commission appointed by the Turkish government to investigate the outrage and bring any report that reflects on either the Kurds or the army. By this act the sultan seems to assume all the responsibility of what has been done.

"These stories of wrong and oppression have aroused the civilized world. We are glad to learn that our government has directed one of its consuls to make an independent investigation of all matters connected with the reported massacre. But our government does not stand in the same relation to Turkey as do the European powers, that, under the treaty of Berlin, secured the right of seeing that good government was maintained throughout the Turkish empire. The rights thus guaranteed ought now to be exercised, and the first step should be a most thorough investigation as to the condition of affairs throughout Armenia. We can not doubt that the European powers will attend to their duty. The winter is not a favorable time for visiting eastern Turkey, where the snow is often from eight to 12 feet deep. Time and patience will be required."

Erzurum, which is referred to in the preceding statement, is a city 96 miles southwest of Erzurum, situated on the Euphrates in the midst of the mountains. It is noted for the energy of its people, both Turks and Armenians.

ALMOST BEYOND BELIEF.

Further Outrages Perpetrated Upon the Poor Armenians.

TIFLIS, Russian Transcaucasia, Dec. 17.—A letter which appears in a paper here states that for 19 days the residents of Armenian villages, where the outrages were perpetrated, fought against the Kurds. The Armenians lost only 10 warriors while the Kurds lost 569. When the regular troops under Zekki Pasha appeared the Armenians were compelled to succumb.

After Zekki Pasha's treachery in offering peace, 60 young Armentau men were seized and tortured horribly for three days. Then all were murdered and their bodies buried in a ditch. Among the Armenian heroes who lost their lives, the writer mentions Derbedros, who, with his own hand, killed seven Kurds in fair fight. He was captured and flayed to the waist. Pieces of his flesh were cut off, broiled and eaten by the savage Turks while he was still alive.

Burden Laid to Rest.

PARIS, Dec. 17.—President Casimir-Perier, the ministers, diplomats, senators and members of the chamber of deputies assembled in the court of honor of the Palais Bourbon yesterday, to pay the last token of respect to M. Auguste Burdeau, president of the chamber of deputies, who died on Wednesday last. There were no religious services. All the high officials, with the exception of President Casimir-Perier, went to the cemetery. The route was lined with a silent and respectful crowd. At the grave a large body of troops and a squadron of the republican guard marched past. The body was then interred.

Died of Exposure.

WAUPUN, Wis., Dec. 17.—The Schultz children, who disappeared from their home in the town of Waupun last Monday, and for whom hundreds of men have been searching daily, were found dead yesterday afternoon in the woods two miles from the homestead. They lost their way during last Monday's snowstorm and died from exposure.

Steamer Delayed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—Some anxiety has been caused by the non-arrival of the Mallory steamer San Marcos. She was expected to reach here Saturday at the latest. The steamer has not been reported since leaving Galveston.

Died of Heart Disease.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Dec. 17.—Joseph L. Shipley, for 20 years editor and part owner of the Springfield Union, died suddenly of heart disease shortly after midnight.

CONGRESSIONAL CAST

Program of the Senate and House.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL BILL.

It Will Continue to Occupy the Attention of the Senate Until Final Action Is Taken on the Measure—An Exciting Week Promised in the House—The Carlisle Banking Bill to Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The Nicaragua canal bill holds its place as the unfinished business in the senate calendar, and the general understanding appears to be that it will continue to occupy the attention of the senate with few interruptions, and those by consent, until a vote is taken upon it. The bill only comes up on each day after the disposal of the morning business, and it will surrender this place temporarily on Thursday to permit the ceremonies in commemoration of Webster and Stark of the unveiling of their statues which have been placed in the Capitol.

There is also a probability that the committee on appropriations may ask consideration for the urgent deficiency bill toward the last of the week. It is understood that Senator Cockrell, chairman of this committee, will lay stress upon the importance of getting this bill through before the holidays and that he will ask the committee to pass upon it early in the week. There is little probability, however, that any of the other appropriation bills will receive the attention of the senate during the week.

The disposition among senators is favorable to an adjournment on Thursday until after the Christmas holidays, but it is probable that the house will not consent to this arrangement and that the adjournment will be delayed until Saturday. The program, therefore, with reference to the holiday adjournment, so far as one has been arranged, is to adjourn on Saturday, the 22d inst., until Thursday, the 3d of January.

Some senators predict that the final vote on the Nicaragua bill will be reached this week, but the friends of the bill scarcely hope for this result. They realize that the precedents of the senate are all against action so speedy on a measure of such importance and presenting so many points for debate and set speeches, and they are also prepared to encounter opposition which has not yet taken definite shape. Senator Caffrey's objection to an agreement for a vote on the bill on Wednesday next is understood to have been made upon constitutional grounds, and it is quite probable that he, with several other senators, including Teller, Vest, George and Vilas, will desire to be heard in opposition to the measure before it shall be disposed of. Senator Cullum will open the speaking for the week with a speech on this question.

This week promises to be an exciting one in the house. The banking and currency committee have arranged to bring forward the Carlisle banking bill and will prefer a request to the committee on rules for a special order which will set aside the remainder of the week, beginning on Tuesday, for debate on the Carlisle bill with provision for a final vote on Friday next. The banking committee desires to prolong the sessions so as to begin at 11 a. m., and continue until 10:30 at night with a recess from 5 until 8 p. m. The terms, the special order will be submitted to the committee on rules.

There is considerable opposition among the Democrats of the house to the short limit it is proposed to set upon the debate. Many of them feel that a measure involving such gigantic interests, contemplating, as it does, a revolution in the entire banking system of the country, should not be crowded through in haste. This feeling is shared by some of the most prominent Democratic leaders of the house, and it seems a large possibility that the banking and currency committee will be overruled, and the special order will give this week to debate, with provision for a final vote after the holiday recess.

The adjournment for the holiday recess will probably occur on Saturday. The talk of continuing the session without the customary recess seems to be based on very slight foundation.

WHOLESALE POISONING.

One Hundred and Fifty Persons Suddenly Stricken.

BERLIN, Dec. 17.—Great excitement has been caused at Freiberg, Saxony, by what appears on its face to be either criminal negligence or a wholesale attempt at poisoning. One hundred and fifty persons were suddenly stricken with all the symptoms attending arsenic poisoning.

An investigation showed that all had partaken of rolls from a certain bakery, and an analysis revealed that the rolls contained arsenic. One child has died from the effects of the poison. The family of the baker, who sold the rolls, did not escape, some of the members being quite ill. Inquiry has been opened in the case of the child who died.

Supreme Court Judge Prostrated.

OSKALOOSA, Ia., Dec. 17.—Complete paralysis of the right side prostrated Judge Severs last night. He was a former member of the Iowa supreme court for 14 years and prominent in Iowa since an early day.

Duel With Pistols.

BENTON, Ala., Dec. 17.—A duel with pistols took place on the street here last night between Tom St. Clair and Reuben Maul. St. Clair was killed, Maul slightly wounded and a negro woman seriously wounded.

A YOUNG man giving his name as H. C. Ball and hailing from Indiana, forged F. M. Hopkins' name to a check for $52 in Fleming. He then got Dr. J. J. Reynolds, of Flemingsburg, to cash it for him and asked. As soon as Mr. Reynolds found that the check was forged he telegraphed the proper authorities to arrest the gent.

DETECTIVE FITZGERALD and Marshal William Sayers of Augusta, on Saturday, arrested George Hall, a thirteen-year-old lad of that city, for throwing a rock at a C. and O. train. On account of his youth, he was let off with a few hours jail sentence and a good switching administered by his father. Young Hall threw a stone through a window of one of the coaches of the C. and O.'s No. 3 last Monday.

THE portrait of the late Mr. Will Wood, exhibited in the show window of the Red Corner clothing store, has attracted much attention. Mr. Wood was so well known in this community, and so pleasantly remembered by everybody acquainted with him, that his portrait is of more than passing interest. The crayon work, executed with the skill for which the artists are noted, brings out every feature as natural as life, and he almost seems to talk to those who look upon his portrait. The Waters Party, who are responsible for the work, are being highly commended. Studio at St. Charles Hotel, Front street.

"SO ROMANTIC."

Eloped With Her Sister's Sweetheart and Now Wants a Divorce. A Novel Case.

A special from Mt. Olivet tells of a divorce suit soon to be filed there, that grew out of a rather ill-advised and romantic marriage. The fair plaintiff is Mrs. Edna Woodward, aged eighteen, and the defendant is Thomas Woodward, aged twenty-two.

The statements set forth in the petition tell of the romantic marriage.

She says that one night last June Thomas Woodward had arranged to elope with an older sister of hers, but as the time drew near, her sister, Miss Emma Rankins, concluded that she did not care to link her destiny with the genial Thomas and was on the eve of backing out. Nothing was more natural than that she should confide in her younger sister and tell her all about it. Upon hearing the story, Miss Edna, who has considerable romance in her nature, gleaned, no doubt, from the novels of the ten cent variety, told her sister that she would take her place and marry young Woodward, saying they were the same size and looked a great deal alike, and in the night Woodward would be easily fooled, as he could not see very well anyway. At first the older sister objected, but finally yielded, as she saw an easy way out of the affair herself.

Thomas felt that he should have his nerve along with him, and the occasion was most auspicious to take "suthin," so he proceeded to fill up some before starting, and by the time he reached the home of his intended was sporting a very decent and comfortable jag, says the special.

On arriving, he was met by Miss Rankin, the younger, who lost no time in getting into the buggy, and in his excitement and hurry to escape the parental boot he noticed nothing wrong, but proceeded to Carlisle, arriving there before daylight. He soon had the knot tied and was far on his way home before he discerned his mistake.

Did he raise a kick when he found out he had been worked? Not a bit of it. He evidently had great faith in the old saw that "one of the name is as good as the same."

He proceeded on his way home, saying, "no one here need know but that everything was all right." So the couple installed themselves at the home of the groom.

All went well for three or four weeks, but Mrs. Woodward became dissatisfied at the end of that time and returned to her own home, where she was supposed to be visiting until her husband could provide a house.

Both of the young people are of good family and are well known. Woodward seems very indifferent about the affair, and will not in any way interfere with the proceedings.

Nothing could be more desirable or more appreciated for a Christmas present than one of our unequalled crayons.

WATERS PARTY,
Studio, Hotel St. Charles.

THE Christian Church, at the morning service Sunday, by an almost unanimous vote, extended a call to Rev. E. B. Cake to continue as pastor. His second year as pastor will close the first of March.

COMMENCING to-day, I will place on sale ladies' gold-filled watches worth $25 for $18, ladies' 14k. gold watches worth $40, my price, $30; gentlemen's gold-filled watches worth $35, my price, $20; 14k. gold gent's watches worth $85, my price, $60. All stem winders and finely jeweled. Warranted to give satisfaction. P. J. MURPHY, Leader of Low Prices.

THE Post says that if the Cincinnati postoffice can be looked upon as an index to the holiday trade of Cincinnati, the present year will show an enormous gain over that of last year. The sale of stamps is larger, and more parcels are being received for transmission than either last year or the year before. The month of November showed a gain of $7,500 in the sale of stamps over the same month last year.

"MR. CLEVELAND is living in advance of his time," says the Ohio State Journal, "when he is able to add $100,000,000 to our old war debt when there is no trouble nearer than China." We are not selfish, replies the Cincinnati Enquirer. We present our compliments to the Journal and beg to assure it that Mr. Harrison did as much to accomplish this wonderful feat as Mr. Cleveland did. Mr. Harrison furnished the deficiency and the policy. The rest was easy.

A Nice Plum.

Mr. Arthur F. Curran, the gentlemanly ex-editor of the Dover News, was a passenger west on No. 4 from Washington, D. C., yesterday. His many friends will be glad to know he secured a nice plum while in Washington, in the shape of a position as proof-reader in the Treasury Department printing office, under Hon. J. Dexter Kehoe. This makes quite a group of Mason County boys Mr. Kehoe has gathered around him. In addition to Mr. Curran there are Messrs. Bruce Austin, Will Cady and Mr. Kehoe's son, George. Mr. Curran will return to Washington as soon as he can make the necessary arrangements.

Big Suit for Back Taxes.

NOVELIST NO MORE.

Death of Robert Louis Stevenson at Apia, Samoa.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Dec. 17.—Advises from Apia, Samoa, of date of Dec. 8, are to the effect that the well known novelist, Robert Louis Stevenson, had died suddenly from apoplexy. His remains were interred on the summit of Pahi mountain, 1,800 feet high. At the time of his death Mr. Stevenson had half completed the writing of a new novel.

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

Robert Louis Balfour Stevenson was born in Edinburgh Nov. 13, 1850. He was educated at private schools and at the University of Edinburgh, and was called to the Scottish bar, but traveled and devoted himself to literature. One of his earliest works was an account of his travels in California, but the work which established his reputation as a writer of fiction was "Treasure Island," published in 1883. Among the most popular of his works is "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which was dramatized and played at the Lyceum theater in London in 1888, and consequently in the United States. Among his other works are "Kidnapped," "The New Arabian Nights" and "The Black Arrow." A some time ago Mr. Stevenson, who was suffering from lung trouble, went to the South Pacific for his health. He became enraptured with the Samoan islands and decided to take up his residence and spend the rest of his days there. He took an interest in Samoan affairs and has written many letters to the newspapers in favor of the natives as against the treaty powers under whose direction the government of the islands is conducted.

DEATH OF JAMES GILLFILLAN.

He Was Chief Justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 17.—After an illness of several weeks, Chief Justice James Gillfillan of the Minnesota supreme bench, died yesterday in his 65th year. He was born in 1820, and in childhood came to this country with his parents, settling in New York. He studied law at Ballston and Buffalo, and was admitted to the bar in 1850 at Albany.

In 1857 he began the practice of his profession in this city. He served in the Seventh Minnesota regiment through the Indian wars and during the rebellion, being promoted to captain and later was made colonel of the Eleventh Minnesota, but when the war closed he was commanding a division. In 1860 he was appointed by Governor Marshall to fill the vacancy on the supreme bench caused by the retirement of Justice Thomas Wilson, serving one year, and again in 1875 he filled a term by appointment, but since that time has been regularly re-elected, his last term expiring with the present year. Chief Justice Gillfillan held high rank among jurists.

The cause of death was kidney troubles. Mrs. Gillfillan and six children survive him. The funeral will be held from Christ church (Episcopal) tomorrow under the auspices of the Loyal Legion.

Steamship Disabled.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 17.—The steamship Portland, formerly the Haytian Republic, returned here this morning leaking badly and with her rudder damaged, the result of two terrible hours off Cape Flattery last night. She was coal-laden and bound from Nanaimo to San Francisco. The sea constantly swept over her, and for a time it was feared would extinguish her fires. She refused to answer her helm, but was finally brought about and brought inside Tatoosh light. Several large steamers, reported overdue, have arrived.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

OLIVE, Ill., Dec. 17.—Yesterday morning a very distressing accident occurred, by which a child, 3 years old, was shot and instantly killed and its playmate severely wounded. Carbonnet to Bonenico, living with the family of Frank Vacca, was examining a shotgun preparatory to cleaning it, and not thinking it was loaded, snapped the hammer. A heavy load of shot was discharged with the foregoing results.

Miss Stevenson Rapidly Failing.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 17.—Vice President Stevenson, who has been here for a week with his sick daughter, Mary Stevenson, returned to Washington last night. Mr. Stevenson is liable to be called to Asheville any hour, as Miss Stevenson's condition is extremely critical, in fact, it is conceded that her recovery is impossible. Her strength is gradually failing, and the end may come any day.

Communication by Bottle.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 17.—The United States lighthouse tender Columbia has returned from Tillamook rock, it being her second unsuccessful attempt to land supplies and workmen. The lighthouse tender bottled his report and cast it into the sea, where it was picked up by the steamer. He says the repairs have so far been made on the disabled lamp at the top of the tower as to admit of lighting it.

Collision of Horse Carts.

ROCHESTER, Dec. 17.—In responding to an alarm of fire yesterday afternoon horse carts Nos. 6 and 9 met in collision at a street corner. Both carts were going at full speed, and the horses were thrown in all directions. Louis Rice, the lieutenant of No. 6, was instantly killed, his skull being crushed, and Captain Frank Grafton of No. 9 was seriously injured and made die.

THE BLOW WAS FATAL.

Andy Bowen Dies After His Fight With George Lavigne.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 17.—Andy Bowen, the New Orleans lad, who fought 18 rounds Friday night with George Lavigne, in the arena of the Auditorium club, died Saturday morning a little after 7 o'clock.

Lavigne and his seconds and time-keeper, consisting of Puglist Jim Hall, Sam Fitzpatrick, Martin Murphy and George Consadine, and also Referee Professor John Duffy, were placed under arrest.

Lavigne was admitted to bail in the sum of $10,000, the others $5,000. Duffy, the referee, and Spitzfaden were the only ones to furnish bond.

"Kid" Lavigne, Billy McCarthy, Sam Fitzpatrick, Jim Hall, Martin Murphy and George Consadine, were sent to jail but afterward released.

Lavigne is detained by the police. As soon as he can get away he will go home and rest for three months. He will not retire from the ring but will then try for a match with Johnson of Minneapolis.

The grand jury will begin an investigation and fix the blame for the death.

Governor Foster was seen yesterday evening and asked for an expression of his opinion of the so-called glove contests in the light of the tragic outcome of the Lavigne-Bowen fight. The governor expressed himself as firmly opposed to such exhibitions. He said: "I have always been very positive and emphatic in my opposition to the glove contests as carried on in New Orleans by professional prize fighters. I regard it as a brutal exhibition, tending to demoralize public sentiment and in no wise calculated to elevate the tone of public morals in the community."

When the effort was made to have the Corbett-Mitchell fight take place in New Orleans I determined to exhaust all the power of the state to prevent it, and so declared at the time. Subsequently to this the right of athletic clubs to have such exhibitions was taken into court and is still pending. I urged in my message to the legislature the passing of a law declaring glove contests of this kind a criminal offense, and several bills were introduced to that end, but for some reason no bill was passed.

"The unfortunate termination of the Lavigne-Bowen contest accentuates the importance of prohibiting any such further exhibitions. A sound, healthy public sentiment has outlawed the exhibitions in almost every state in the Union, and I believe the great body of the people of this state unquestionably oppose to make Louisiana, and especially New Orleans, the scene of such brutal contests."

Freight Trains Crash Together.

HOUSTON, Dec. 17.—During a dense fog yesterday morning two heavy freight trains crashed into each other on the long bridge of the Southern Pacific railroad. Fireman Clements and Conductor Heard were badly cut and bruised, the former fatally. Just after the wreck Peter Carroll, foreman of the bridge and building department, fell from the bridge and was fatally wounded.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 17.—An attempt was made early yesterday morning to wreck the New York and Chicago limited train on the Pennsylvania railroad by pulling the spikes from the switch and blowing the light out. Other obstructions were also placed in the switch. The discovery was made just five minutes before the train was due, which runs 50 miles an hour.

Colored Coachman Fatally Stabbed.

ROANOKE, W. Va., Dec. 17.—Doc Hampton, a colored coachman, was fatally stabbed yesterday in the Mechanics' club by an unknown negro. The clubrooms were searched by the police, but nothing definite has been learned about the crime.

Matractor Safe.

CITY OF MEXICO, Dec. 17.—The government Saturday notified the United States charge d'affaires that it had decided not to grant extradition in the case of Dr. J. S. McCurry, under arrest at Monterey, who, it is alleged, is wanted for criminal malpractice at Anniston, Ala.

Brown's Iron Bitters

In a unsolicited letter (June 29, 1894.) she writes:

"About 9 or 10 years ago I was broken down in health and suffered from extreme nervousness, and severe neuralgia pains afflicted different parts of my body—sometimes the dreadful pain would be in my eyes and head, sometimes in my hand and often in my shoulders and neck. I took many remedies, but found none like Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used a few bottles every year since. I often praise it to others."

It's Brown's Iron Bitters you need!

Look for crossed Red lines on wrapper.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
